PREFATORY NOTE.

The following Catalogue of the Yale Mission Library represents the beginning of a proposed collection of the entire Foreign Missionary literature of the Protestant nations of the world.

Such a comprehensive and complete collection would embrace not far from five thousand volumes. Of these fifteen hundred are already on the shelves. They consist, as will be seen, of the latest and most important American, British and Continental works relating to the Missions of the Protestant Churches of all denominations in Europe and America, together with publications of an earlier date which have been secured as opportunity offered and are certain to be useful for historical purposes.

The foundation of this Library was laid in a gift of copies of all translations of the Scriptures published or for sale by the American Bible Society, presented a few years since by the Hon. Wm. E. Dodge of New York, with the view of showing to the young men of the University what had been already done in giving the Scriptures to heathen and Mohammedan nations, and suggesting at the same time the possibility of their own participation in a work so fundamental and essential in all Protestant Missionary endeavor. To these translations, with the addition of a list of several versions contained in the University Library and marked by a star, the first place in this Catalogue has been assigned.

In the titles of the other works relating to the history of Missions, the alphabetical order has been followed in the names of authors and of the subjects of memoirs, but not in the case of the Periodicals and Reports of Missionary Societies, which are placed under these words respectively (see pp. 23, 26). For the sake of making the Catalogue more helpful, brief biographical notices and dates of death, so far as ascertained, have been given. By means of the index, the titles of the principal works in the Library which treat of Christian Missions in particular countries or parts of the world will be found without difficulty.

Books of travels in Missionary lands which do not relate to Christian Missions, and also works on non-Christian religions, the titles of which are given in the excellent Missionary bibliographies of Dean Vahl in Denmark, and the Rev. S. M. Jackson of New York, are not embraced in this collection, as they are generally accessible in the Library of the University.

The present Catalogue, which is printed for the immediate use of students who desire the latest and fullest information in regard to Foreign Missionary fields, will be followed, it is expected, by successive Supplements as the Library increases.

What now remains is to complete, so far and so fast as practicable, the collection of the following classes of books, viz. (1) History of modern Missions in various countries: India, China, Japan, the Sandwich Islands, Micronesia, Madagascar, Turkey, Persia, Africa, etc. (2) Missionary Biography. (3) History and annual reports of Missionary Societies at home and abroad. (4) Missionary Periodicals of different denominations in different countries: the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden and Norway. (5) Missions to the Jews. (6) Missions to the Mohammedans.

For the warm interest and friendly aid of the officers of the Missionary Societies of various branches of the Christian Church at home and abroad, and of other friends who have shown their appreciation of the aim and value of such a library in this seat of learning, the most sincere thanks are due and are hereby cordially presented.

II. Works on Foreign Missions.

III. Works composed by Missionaries in or on the Vernacular Languages of Various Countries.

IV. Index.

I. TRANSLATIONS OF THE BIBLE OR PARTS OF IT MADE CHIEFLY BY MISSIONARIES.

"In Philology these Soldiers of the Cross have accomplished more than all the learned world beside. The publications of the American Board in and concerning foreign languages number already nearly two thousand titles in nearly forty different languages. Many of these are translations of the entire Bible. Many are vocabularies and grammars of languages previously unknown to civilized man, and in not a few instances of languages previously unwritten. Who can estimate the amount of patient, baffling toil involved in these issues of the Missionary press! How completely does it distance and throw into the shade the labors of retired scholars, in the shelter of well-stocked libraries, surrounded by reference books, cheered by the sympathy of men of kindred tastes and urged on by the anticipated plaudits of the erudite public in all lands."—Dr. Andrew P. Peabody in the North American Review.
